

Hello our learning community,

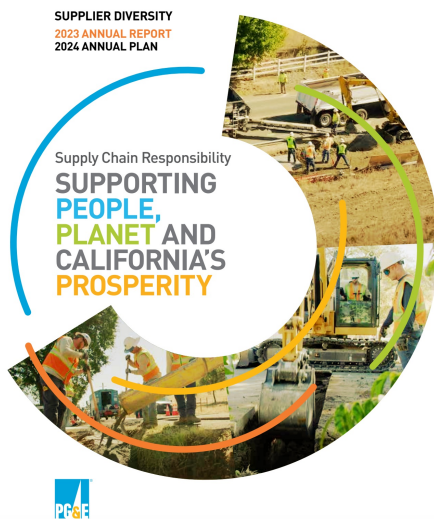

Spring is nearly here in Northern California, and with it comes a burst of fresh energy and opportunity! Now's the time to dive into something new and exciting. Check out our course catalog and sign up for a course that sparks your interest—let's make this season one of growth and discovery.

Don't forget to join us at our upcoming coffee chats for lively discussions and networking opportunities. We're thrilled to announce that each coffee chat will feature special guests, including industry experts and PG&E sourcing leaders. They will offer insights to help you build your business intelligence and take your skills to the next level.

We are dedicated to providing you with the resources and support you need for continued growth. We look forward to building our community together.

Let's go!

News from the PG&E Supply Chain Responsibility Team

The PG&E team is excited to share that we achieved $4.18 billion spend with 577 diverse suppliers in 2023, making this the fifth consecutive year of exceeding $3 billion towards diverse suppliers.

You can read more about our 2023 diverse spend results and our Supplier Diversity program here.

“The utility industry, and business in general, is ever-changing. The TAP Learning Management System is one way that we help businesses hone their skills.

We want to be at the forefront of educating businesses about current industry trends that will make them more competitive.”

Jerilyn Gleaves

Senior Manager, Supply Chain Responsibility PG&E
